DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-29 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-12 of US Patent No. 6,633,031 B1.

Although the claims of the application are not identical to the claims of the patent, the claims are not patentably distinct from each other and claim common subject matter disclosing an electrospray device comprising: a substrate having an injection surface and an ejection surface, wherein the substrate comprises: an entrance orifice on the injection surface; an exit orifice on the ejection surface; a channel extending between the entrance orifice and the exit orifice; a recess extending into the ejection surface, thereby defining a nozzle on the ejection surface; and a voltage application system comprising: a first ring electrode circumscribing the nozzle to impart a first potential wherein the nozzle is substantially coplanar with or protrudes through a plane defined by the ring electrode to impart a first potential to said substrate and a second electrode to impart a second potential, wherein the first and the second electrodes are positioned to define an electric field.

Independent claims 1 and 18 of the application correspond independent claims 1 and 11 of the patent. Claims 2, 5, 6, 10, and 11 of the application correspond to claims 2, 4, 3, 5, and 6, of the patent, respectively. Claims 15, 19, and 24, of the application correspond to claims 10, 12, and 8, of the patent, respectively.

Except for the double patenting problem as described above no prior art discloses applicant's invention.

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Schultz et al. (6,822,231 B2) disclose an integrated monolithic microfabricated dispensing nozzle and liquid chromatography-electrospray method and system.
